A FEW PLAIN FACTS.
For more than twenty years we have been trying to build our business on the broad corner-stone of truth and right. We still believe that the prestige of honor and the power of truth are invincible and eternal, and that people are not wise who pay big prices for Pianos, Organs and Machines, when we guarantee the same goods for less money.
We advise our customers to buy only such makes as years of experience have proved the best in the world for the money. Such makes as Steinway & Son, Wm. Knabe & Co.
Chickering & Sons, Hallet & Davis,
Decker Bros., Emerson & Co. Henry F. Miller.
Still if you want any other makes, don't forget we furnish them all, and you can save money by getting our lowest prices before closing any trade with any dealer, agent or friend. Try it.

TRUE'S PIN WORM ELIXIR!
A WONDERFUL REMEDY!
MARVELOUS IN ITS EFFECTS!
Mothers, save your children from the annoying and fatal effects of pin worms, by giving
DR. JOHN F. TRUE'S

Pin Worm Elixir.
A GREAT DISCOVERY!
It is claimed to be the safest, most potent and most effectual remedy known for this child killing Disease. As a cathartic vermifuge it has no equal. It expels all kinds of worms, and in fact all living creatures that infest the bowels of suffering humanity, are triumphantly expelled by this truly wonderful remedy. Testimony in its favor comes in from all sections where it is known. It not only effectually removes from the system these troublesome and disagreeable worms, but children who have been weak and puny for years, are at once improved and restored to health by its use. Being a mild and gentle laxative, it is a corrective of the greatest value. It is purely vegetable and cannot be beat. It has also expelled several lizards. One eight inches in length, is spotted, belongs to the water species and looks like a veritable young alligator. Fits caused by worms and indigestion.
BUY IT AND TRY IT.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
PRICE 35c. 50c and $1.00.

Pimples, Boils,
And Carbuncles result from a debilitated, impoverished, or impure condition of the blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla prevents and cures these eruptions and painful tumors, by removing their cause; the only effectual way of treating them.
Ayer's Sarsaparilla has prevented the usual course of Boils, which have pained and distressed me every season for several years.—G. Scales, Plainville, Mich.
I was badly troubled with Pimples on the face; also with a discoloration of the skin, which showed itself in ugly dark patches. No external treatment did more than temporary good. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected and I have not been troubled since.—T. W. Boddy, River st., Lowell, Mass.
A Perfect Cure,
I was troubled with Boils, and my health was much impaired. I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in due time, the eruptions all disappeared, and my health was completely restored.—John R. Elkins, Editor Stanley Observer, Albemarle, N. C.
I was troubled, for a long time, with a humor which appeared on my face in ugly Pimples and Blotches. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me. I consider it the best blood purifier in the world.—Charles H. Smith, North Craftsbury, Vt.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Mrs. Caroline Dana Howe, author of the song, "Leaf by Leaf the Roses Fall," is confined to her residence in Portland, with illness.

Nettie L. Bray, an adopted daughter of Mr. D. J. and Mrs. Christiana Bray, of Poland, died of typhoid fever, October 18, aged fourteen years, nine months. Mr. and Mrs. Bray lost their only son by death the 8th of September last. Mr. Bray's mother has been confined to her bed for several years with softening of the brain.

Staring advertisements were painted over the face of the rocks of the Lewiston Falls, Wednesday. The natural beauty of this grand waterfall was defaced by them. If somebody could have have prevented it, it would have been a timely intervention. Some of the citizens in both cities were greatly exercised, Wednesday, over the "desecration," as they were pleased to call it.

The following is a statement of the number of cases of shoes shipped, and weight of leather received, by the Auburn and Lewiston shoe factories for the week ending Wednesday, October 20, 1886. Total number of cases shipped, 2,240, and the weight of leather received, 182,353 pounds. Last week there were shipped 2,578 cases, and the weight of leather received was 93,476 pounds. In the corresponding week of 1885 there were shipped 1,555 cases, and 91,335 pounds of leather were received.

The disappearance of a Lisbon Falls man, named Fred Youdan, savors of the mysterious, and the police authorities have been trying to look up his whereabouts since Monday. It was supposed that he left Lisbon Falls by the evening train, Saturday. Two men came up with him on the train. He had not been seen up to Wednesday noon. He had quite a sum of money about him; probably, it is thought, $50 or $60. At first, foul play was feared but it is now supposed that he left home only temporarily and will return. His family is at Lisbon Falls. The river has been dragged but no traces found. It is now supposed that either financial or domestic difficulty was the cause of his disappearance. A rumor that they had heard from him, from New York is denied.

Aroostook.

The potato season has about closed, the factory at Mapleton having taken about 40,000 bushels.

Edwin Cook and L. A. Foss, of Chapman, raised 3,700 bushels of potatoes on sixteen acres.

There is a good prospect that the village of Caribou will soon be lighted by the incandescent electric light system.

The new Unitarian church at Presque Isle is rapidly approaching completion, under the energetic management of the contractor, Mr. Wilson. It was built from plans drawn by Peabody & Stearns, architects, of Boston, and is exceedingly unique in appearance both externally and internally.

George W. Smith, a Presque Isle mason, son of Mr. John Smith, while setting underpinning at Ashland last week, had a heavy stone fall upon him and one of his legs was broken.

Mr. Columbus Hayford, of Maysville, one of our best farmers, informs the Herald that never before has he harvested such a bountiful crop, so great in quantity or so rich in quality. And he says he is not alone, either, for all the farmers in his vicinity have done the same thing.

Last Monday morning, Mr. Frank Farnham, of Presque Isle, who lives on the Fort road below Daggett's, discovered his barn in flames, so completely that he was able to save only his horse. With the barn was turned ten head of cattle, forty tons hay, eight hundred bushels grain, single and double wagon, and all his farming tools, etc. Mr. Farnham estimates his loss to be fully $1,500, with no insurance.

The reports of large crops are now in order, we believe. Potatoes have taken the lead in this section. Among the farmers of this town, Fred Whited, takes the lead with a crop of 5,000 bushels of potatoes and 1,500 bushels of grain. The potatoes were taken from twenty acres of ground. Next is O. Smith with 2,185 bushels from eight acres; 1,047 bushels of those being taken from three acres. He also raised 1,290 bushels of grain. Other large crops are reported.

Cumberland.

The English steamers are expected to begin running to Portland about November 14th.

The Portland police department will give their annual ball at City Hall, Wednesday evening, October 26th. Chandler's band will give a concert from seven to eight o'clock.

The Deering town authorities have hired the Portland steam roller, which is under the direction of Commissioner Staples. They pay the city $10 a day for the use of the machine.

At the offices occupied by the Portland Electric Light Company on Plum street, Mr. Sawyer, the manager, has introduced a new system of incandescent lighting, by which the lamps are placed upon an arc circuit. The Sawyer-Mann lamps and the Thompson distributor are used.

On Tuesday evening, November 23d, the Portland Cadets will give their sixteenth annual drill and ball at City Hall. The committee are determined to make this the event of the season. The Manchester Cadets are expected to be present. There will be an exhibition drill by both companies and a good time is assured.

A rather good looking young lady who calls herself Nellie Gerrish, has been doing considerable work as a detective in the employ of Detective Robert A. Davis, of Portland, the past year. She is a fearless young woman and has trailed several desperate characters in places from which most women would shrink. She helped him get the notorious Fal Bickford, and is now at work on an arson case in a neighboring town.

The Mayor of Portland received a letter, Wednesday, from a Portland citizen, at present absent from the city. The letter contained a check for $50, half of it for the benefit of the Eastport sufferers and half for the sufferers by the Charleston earthquake. The donor wrote, "I send this with the condition that you keep my name out of the newspapers. In case you cannot do this you may return the money." The gift of $25 makes the total contributed to the Charleston relief fund, through the Mayor, $896.50.

Some time during Tuesday night a burglar pushed open an unfastened window in the rear of Gen. Neal Dow's residence, Portland, broke out the window screen and entered the house. He took a small quantity of silver ware that had been left out in the dining room, including a cake basket, valuable chiefly for its associations. He entered the pantry and devoured a lot of cake, and then went into the bedroom, taking some jewelry belonging to Mrs Gould. He also took a pair of shoes from the library, belonging to Gen. Dow. It is thought the burglar was a tramp. The value of property taken was not over $100.

Kennebec.

Work is practically ended for the season on the new Augusta public building. The derricks were taken down Wednesday and things will be made snug for winter.

Hill & Company, publishers, shipped $200 worth of one cent stamps, Wednesday, to a prominent proprietary medicine concern of Massachusetts. The large publishing houses in Augusta receive so many stamps that they are obliged to dispose of them in some manner outside of their business.

The duplicate pump which will be used by the Augusta Water Company, is a magnificent affair, and will cost ten thousand dollars. The Company are coming on well with laying their pipe, and have nearly finished that part of the job on the west side of the river.

The French school at the north end, Augusta, is proving a great success. The attendance now numbers fifty-eight, but two seats being unoccupied. Superintendent of Schools Luce recently visited the school and was highly pleased with it. To make room for the class from the mill some of the more advanced pupils will be consigned to the other schools.

Andrew Dow, a boy some sixteen years old, living with John Howard, in Winslow, was missing Wednesday morning. He was last seen about seven o'clock Tuesday night. Mr. Howard called him Wednesday morning, and receiving no answer went to his room and found it vacant. The bed looked as if it had been slept in during the night. Nothing was gone excepting a gun belonging to the boy. His best suit of clothes were hanging in their accustomed place. Some think he has run away while others are of the opinion that he went into the woods hunting and met with an accident. Search will be made for him at once.

The walls of the reservoir of the Augusta Water Company, are up to their full height, with the exception of one or two places, which are left so that teams can reach the top of the enbankment. The lining, which is a layer of clay upon the interior slope extending from the bottom of the reservoir about half way to the top, is nearly completed on three sides. Paving has been started and one side is partially completed. The paving will cover all of the inside slope, and be sixteen inches in thickness. First gravel is laid, after which comes stones, averaging perhaps a foot square. The excavating will be finished this week. The bottom will not be paved, but several spots where the water might sink through will be puddled over with a thin layer of clay. The reservoir is to be completed by cold weather, although it will be too cold to sod the outer slope this season.

Piscataquis.

Elder Albert Pratt, for many years a Free Will Baptist preacher in Piscataquis county, died at his home in South Sebec on Tuesday morning. He had been in failing health for a long time.

The universal expression in regard to the new Baptist church in Dover, is that it will be a beautiful edifice when completed. The tower is partially built and shingled, as is also the main part of the building. Work is being vigorously pushed under the charge of Messrs. Daniel Dexter & Son.

The loss of Mr. Coburn, who lived in the Morgan house in Guilford which was recently burned, was about $150, consisting of carpenter's tools, architect books, household goods, etc. He is a young man, and as the property was all he possessed the loss fell rather heavily upon him.

The daughter of Mr. J. B. Chase, of Dover, by mistake, took nearly a teaspoonful of laudanum on Sunday evening, thinking it was brandy. As soon as it was discovered a doctor was immediately sent for, who, arriving in about ten minutes, administered the usual remedies, and after an hour or so of attention the young lady was placed beyond danger.

Somerset.

John Smith, of Brighton, killed a bear which weighed four hundred pounds the other day. Bears are very plenty up there this season.

As Oakman Moody, of East Cornville, was going from meeting with his daughter and mother, a lady over seventy years of age, his horse took fright on the top of Meadow Hill, running down the hill and throwing them all out. Mrs. Moody was taken up for dead, but afterward recovered her senses. The carriage was ruined.

Sagadahoc.

C. W. Larrabee, a lawyer of Bath, met with a severe accident, Tuesday night. He missed his footing as he turned to enter his yard, and falling, struck upon the left elbow, dislocating the joint and fracturing the bone above.

In accordance with an agreement between the firms of Goss & Sawyer, and Goss, Sawyer & Packard, of Bath, and the creditors of those firms, a meeting was held Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday forenoon at the office of Geo. Fisher in Bank Block, where the creditors presented their views of the valuation of the firm's stock to Chief Justice Peters, who, under a provision of the statute covering such cases, is to appraise the property. About twenty-five creditors were present. W. L. Putnam, of Portland, and C. W. Larrabee, of Bath, appeared for the debtors.

HOW TO GET STRONG.
Dumb-bells and horizontal bars, Indian clubs, and the trapeze are valuable under certain conditions but they are detrimental rather than beneficial if the blood is poor and thin and poisoned with bile. Use of the muscles necessitates waste as well as induces growth. If the blood does not carry sufficient nutritive material to repair the waste, loss of strength necessarily follows, and growth is out of the question. Purify and enrich your blood with Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and then exercise will develop and not consume your physique. WS&w

It is useless to attempt the cure of any disorder, if the blood is allowed to remain impure. Neuralgia and rheumatism are traceable to a disordered condition of the blood, and in numberless cases have been cured by taking a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. oct22 d&w1w

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, Editor

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1886.

Notwithstanding the threat of President Cleveland's postmaster, who is also a Democratic editor, Judge Sicrall is making a brave fight in the Mississippi "Shoestring" district to see whether 25,000 Republican votes are equal to 5,000 white votes.

The back numbers of the Boston Globe will be amusing reading after the Massachusetts election. The Globe refuses to learn from experience and confidently predicts Democratic success in every campaign only to remark after the contest is over it was a cold day and the Democracy got left. History will repeat itself this year.

The sum and substance of the Commercial's explanation of its statement that the Blaine demonstration at Pittsburgh was a "comparative fizzle" seems to be that the editor of that paper hoped that it would prove a fizzle, but it turned out to be a big meeting to his great disappointment. The apology is rather a weak one, but such as it is we accept it with the suggestion that hereafter our contemporary exercise a little more judgment. Mr. Blaine has not been addressing small meetings this year either in Maine or Pennsylvania.

A friend of Congressman Morrison states that the election in his district this fall is very uncertain. The protectionists in the district are making a grand fight and are constantly gaining ground. The defeat of Mr Morrison would be a fitting rebuke to a man who has done his best to unsettle the business of the country, but it is almost too much to expect as he had a majority of 2,592 in the last election. There is little doubt, however, that his majority will be very materially reduced.

The New York World thinks it would be a splendid thing for the Republicans to ignore party lines in the mayoralty contest and and make the election of Mr. Hewitt practically unanimous. This is the same old Democratic chestnut. They nominate one of their strongest partisans and then coolly suggest that politics should not be taken into consideration in purely local contests. No one ever heard the Democrats make this non-partisan appeal, however, until they had their candidate safely launched. The Republicans have made their nomination and what is more to the point the unity in the party causes no little uneasiness among the opposition whose ranks are seriously divided.

It is almost impossible to pick up a Republican organ and not find in it broad intimations that it is the duty of the Administration to precipitate war between the United States and Great Britain. A more unpatriotic crusade was never indulged in for partisan purposes.—Manchester Union.

A more absurd statement than the above seldom finds its way into print. In fact it is worse than absurd; it is a down right, malicious lie. The Republican papers have asked the President to use the power conferred upon him by Congress and grant to the Canadian vessels coming to our ports the same privileges that are granted to American vessels in Canadian ports. But as Col. French, the Democratic candidate for Congress in Massachusetts, says, it is difficult to arouse the government from the "lethargy upon this subject that seems, unfortunately, to have overtaken it." The President has ample time for pleasure and vote gaining expeditions in the South but the American fishermen must shift for themselves.

Remember if a Republican Mayor should be elected in November, you are sure to have a Republican President two years hence, and you Democrats will have to take back seats.

The Herald, until the day after the city election will be a party paper. It will be heart and soul for the Democratic party and the Democratic city ticket.

The above paragraphs are scattered all over the editorial page of the New York Herald. The first goes a long way to confirm the opinion that the Democrats are alarmed at the outlook in New York. Whether or not this alarm is warranted remains to be seen, but that it exists is made manifest in the columns of the Democratic papers every day. As to the Herald's declaration that it is a Democratic party organ until after the city election, it would be interesting to know when it was anything different. It occasionally has a spasm of regret over the shameful fiasco at Washington labelled "reform," but it times its criticism so as not to interfere with the success of the Democratic party. When politics are not pending it likes to masquerade as an independent organ, but in a campaign it is always Democratic until "the day after election."

The report of the men sent to investigate the Philadelphia post office, which has fallen into a sad state of inefficiency under President Cleveland's appointee, has at last been made public. It was first submitted to the Department and then sent to Postmaster Harrity for his inspection before the contents were given out for publication. As was expected the report is a mere farce. Postmaster Harrity was found to be a man with no great amount of executive ability, but the few Republican clerks who have not been dismissed are charged with being responsible for the delay and confusion in handling the mails, and to remedy the existing trouble more removals are recommend. Had it not been for the faithful efforts of the handful of Republican clerks left in the office the business would have been in a much more disgraceful condition than it now is, and this is their reward. The report is not even sensible. Unless it is the intention to present Postmaster Harrity as a fool, it must be admitted that he could ascertain what was going on just as well as these inspectors, and who is there that imagines that he would have retained clerks working against his interests when he was fairly itching to get Republicans out and Democrats in. The men were sent there to whitewash the postmaster, but they have made a blundering piece of work.

Another Chapter in the Reform Farce.

The editorial which we reproduce this morning from the New York World is very suggestive reading, as it presents the President in his true character of a trading politician of rather a low type. In years past there has been a great deal said about Republican officials taking part in politics. If a Republican office-holder attended a caucus of a convention, a shout at once went up that he was running the machine. When President Cleveland came in with his celebrated motto, a public office is a public trust, the independent press announced that the days of political activity among office-holders were surely at an end. Right here Mr. Cleveland thought he saw an opportunity for a little capital among the Mugwumps hence his official warning to office-holders to refrain from politics work, which was received with the remark, "We told you so" by the Mugwumps. The order, however, was not so well received by the Democrats who in fact have treated it with supreme contempt. The continued activity of the new appointees in running the machine has caused no little comment, and we have had several "official" explanations of the order until at last the President himself has taken the matter in hand, and it is to be presumed his interpretation of his own order may be accepted as authoritative. In brief, then, the order was only a part of the sham policy of the Administration and means absolutely nothing just as was stated in the WHIG at the time it made its first appearance. Making political speeches, attending caucuses, or going to conventions as delegates are not regarded at the White House as violations of the order. No one is to be "flipped out" for political activity as the Mugwumps proclaimed, and the charges forwarded by the Indiana Civil Service Reform Association go into the Presidential waste basket. Thus adds another chapter in the bogus reform history of the Administration. Mr. Cleveland is in the field for a renomination, and, as the World well puts it, he cannot afford to incur "the hostility of the active politicians." We shall now have the Mugwump organs revising their previous statements to suit this new emergency and then the reform chorus will go on as usual. What a farce!

That Second Term.

[From the N Y World, Dem.]

There is no use in discussing the question whether Mr. Cleveland is a candidate for a second term. The only question is will he secure the nomination?

If the President were not a candidate he would of course rebuke the office-holders of his own appointment who are loudly proclaiming that the question of his renomination is already settled. He would likewise disavow the talk of the politicians specially favored by him in the way of patronage, and of his personal intimates, that a second term is a foregone conclusion. If the dignity of his office did not lead him to check this effusiveness, the remembrance of his own animadversions upon the influence of Executive subordinates and partisan adherents in securing a renomination of the President would lead him to put a stop to the very obvious second-term movement if he had not changed his mind.

We speak of it as a matter of fact, not of feeling. It is, as we have before remarked, very natural that the President should desire a second term. And his official and personal course for the past year is only explicable upon the theory that he does desire it. His retention of Garland to avoid offense at the South; his signing of the $14,000,000 River and Harbor bill to placate powerful influences, and of the extra-constitutional oleomargarine tax to please the dairy farmers; his submission to the nullification of his Executive order rather than incur the hostility of the active politicians; his deference to the Mugwumps in localities where they are influential and alliance with "machine" politicians in States where there is no reform sentiment—all these are the acts of a Presidential candidate, not of the one-term reformer.

There is yet time for Mr. Cleveland to put the seal of his disapprobation upon the pernicious activity of the office-holding class, and take such action in regard to the principle and policy of the Democratic party as will lead to a spontaneous demand for his re-election. By such a demand only can a second term come with honor.

ANOTHER TOWN BURNED.

Farmington Laid in Ashes.

It Escapes One Conflagration to be Devoured by Another.

Almost a Clean Sweep of the Business Portion of the Town.

The Town Narrowly Escapes.

FARMINGTON, Oct. 22. This place was thrown into a state of great excitement this afternoon by the burning of a large barn on Front street, owned by John A. Stowell, containing forty-five tons of hay. The fire is supposed to have caught from a locomotive on the Sandy River Railroad and the building burned like tinder. A gale was blowing at the time and flaming cinders were carried in all directions, so that at one time eight buildings, two of them half a mile away, were on fire, and it looked as though a large portion of the place would be destroyed. Luckily the wind died away and the heroic efforts of the fire company, with the iron hand engine, aided by citizens and the students of the Normal, Little Blue and public schools the fire was kept at the point where it started Loss $1,000; no insurance.

The Flames Get in their Work.

FARMINGTON, Oct. 23. A great fire has raged here since 8 o'clock last evening. At this hour, 1.50 A. M., the fire is sweeping down Main street and will probably consume everything on the west side of the street to Abbott Hill. Masonic Hall, Odd Fellows' Hall, the Chronicle office, Knowlton & McLeary's job printing house, post-office, Hotel Marble, Exchange Hotel and some fifteen stores are now in ruins. The burned district thus far is from Hotel Marble down Pleasant street. Everything is swept clean, including the jail; thence along Broadway to Main street, thence up Main to Tarbox Bros.' store on the west side of the street; also down the entire length of Main street to Depot street on the west side.

The Churches Burned.

The Baptist church is also in ruins. The Methodist and Congregational churches are burning. It is utterly impossible to estimate the loss. A steam fire engine has just arrived from Lewiston, making the run from Lewiston in one hour and fifteen minutes. A company from Phillips is also working, but their labors are almost fruitless on account of the gale which prevails The Peoples' Trust Company is also burned out. The fire caught in Elbridge Gerry's stable, on Pleasant street, about 8.30 o'clock, it is supposed from a spark from the burning Stoyell stable. No accidents are reported but everybody is exhausted. E. Gerry's horse burned with the stable.

THE EASTPORT FIRE.

Preparations for Commencing Business.

A New Hotel to be Built at Once.

EASTPORT, Oct. 22. The Eastport Hotel Co has leased the Passamaquoddy lot to E. S. Kenney, proprietor of the Island House and T. H. Bucknam, proprietor of the Passamaquoddy House, for twenty-five years. The lessees will begin to-morrow to build a more commodious hotel than the Passamaquoddy. The Island House will not be rebuilt. An architect will be here this week. The new hotel is to cost $15,000.

The International Company has leased Milliken's wharf for six months at $400 per month. Merchants are building small shops on Water street for the winter. Paine & Grady will repair their wharves immediately. All day a stream of people has gone to the relief committee's room. Families are moving from town every day and workmen are going west to seek employment. Three or four insurance policies expired at noon the day of the fire. The fire commenced at two in the afternoon.

Bath's Material Aid.

BATH, Oct 22. Five hundred and twenty-five dollars was raised in this city for Eastport.

HANCOCK COUNTY TEACHERS.

Opening Day of the Association

ELLSWORTH, Oct. 22 The Hancock County Teachers' Association opened here this morning, Fred W. Foster, President, presiding. One hundred and twenty teachers are present. The following are the principal exercises to-day: Discussion, "Conducting recitations," opened by Fred W. Foster, of Castine; paper, "Temperance Instruction," Mrs. N. C. King, of Ellsworth, followed by another on the same subject by Dr. Philbrook, of Castine. Afternoon—Paper. "Health in the Schoolroom," Dr. George A. Phillips, of Ellsworth; teaching exercise, "Language," Miss Mary E. Hughes, of Castine; paper, "Reading by the Word Method," Miss Plea M. Smith, of Sullivan; paper, "Primary Reading." Miss Mary W. Hooke, of Castine. In the evening there was an address by Hon. N. A. Luce, State Superintendent of Schools, Augusta.

FROM SACO.

The Cider Poisoning Case.

SACO, Oct. 22. Prof. Henry Carmichael, of Boston, formerly of Bowdoin College, has offered to make, free of charge, an analysis of the contents of the stomach of James W. Dennet, who was poisoned by drinking cider from a cask formerly containing embalming fluid. Though a post mortem examination will be held and a coroner's inquest follow, it is also probable that an investigation will be held to decide whether the undertaker who sold the cask or the cider maker is responsible for the boy's death. Mrs. Dennet is improving, but is not out of danger.

FROM PORTLAND.

Verdict Against a Railroad Company.

PORTLAND, Oct. 22. In the Supreme Court to-day the jury in the case of James C. Nugent, vs. Boston, Concord & Montreal Railroad Company, returned a verdict for plaintiff for $3,100. Nugent was the brakeman who lost an arm by being knocked from a freight train by an awning at Bethlehem Junction, and the suit was for $20,000 damages. The motion for a new trial has been filed.

HON. JAMES G. BLAINE

Visits His Old Home in Brownsville, Penn.

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 22. James G. Blaine, accompanied by his two sons, devoted the day to visiting the scene of his childhood. The party spent several hours in the old mansion where Mr. Blaine was born, and also visited the graves of his parents and sister in the old Catholic cemetery. This evening Mr. Blaine spoke at an immense meeting in the public square. His address was non-political and referred to a few points of history connected with the town and vicinity. To-morrow morning the party leaves over the old National Pike for Washington.

KNOX AND LINCOLN RAILROAD.

Considering its Lease or Sale.

BATH, Oct. 24. At a meeting held here to-day of committees from the cities and towns holding stock in the Knox and Lincoln Railroad, a sub-committee consisting of Samuel Bryant and Leander Weeks, of Rockland, J. H. Kimball and George Fisher of Bath, G. C. Levenseller of Thomaston, S. S. Marble of Waldoboro, E. Ross of New Castle, J. A. Hall of Damariscotta, E. K. Hall of Waldoboro, and Charles Weeks of Wiscasset, were appointed to take into consideration the lease or sale of the Knox & Lincoln Railroad.

MORE EARTHQUAKES.

The Disturbances Cover a Wide Area.

No Particular Damage Done.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 22. The earthquake shocks to-day appear to have been as severe in Charleston as in the adjoining States of Georgia and North Carolina. Special despatches have been received from all parts of this and neighboring States indicating that the seismic disturbances covered a larger area of country than any previous shocks. In Charleston and other points in South Carolina the shocks were enough to shake buildings, bring down loose plastering and widen cracks made in houses in previous shocks.

No loss of life is reported from any quarter and no serious damage to property. The Custom House was badly shaken, the western wing being cracked and the walls supporting the roof on the west giving way slightly. The shock at 2.45 P. M. is said to have lasted thirty seconds. If this time was correctly taken the shock this morning was twice as long. The waves moved north to south. The shocks caused no interruption to business.

A Shock in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. A slight earthquake shock was felt here at 2.50 this afternoon. The tremor lasted an instant but was sufficiently strong to "pi" type on the composing stones in the fourth story of the Star office. The shock was so distinct on the fourth floor of the state, war and navy building that some of the clerks became alarmed and ran out into the corridor. On the lower floors of the building, however no one seems to have noticed any unusual disturbance.

In Other Places.

Despatches also report slight shocks at Jacksonville, Fla. Wilmington, N. C., Savannah. Ga., Chattanooga, Tenn., and Columbus and Cincinnati. Ohio.

FROM WASHINGTON.

News About the Capital.

The Last Hostile Chief Captured.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. On October 9th Chief Mangus and his party, consisting of himself, two men, three squaws and five children, was captured. He was the last hostile chief.

POLITICAL.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.

First and Second Rhode Island Democrats.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 22. Oscar Lapham of this city, and ex-Chief Justice Charles S. Bradbury, were nominated to represent the First and Second Rhode Island Districts in Congress by the Democratic convention held here to-day.

Third Massachusetts Democrats.

BOSTON, Oct. 22. The Democrats of the Third District to-day nominated Leopold Morse for Congress.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Milliken's $10,000 Libel Suit.

GORHAM, Oct. 22. Among the important actions entered at the Supreme Court, at Lancaster this week are two suits of E. R. Milliken of the Glen House against Henry M. Burt, editor of "Among the Clouds," published on Mount Washington, for libel. Milliken claims $10,000 damages in each suit for articles printed by Burt in his paper last August. Alfred R. Evans of Gorham and Drew and Jordan of Lancaster are attorneys for Milliken, and Bingham, Mitchell & Batcheller, Aldrich and Remick appear for Burt.

Sad Suicide of a Prominent Man.

MANCHESTER, Oct. 22. Hon. Joseph B. Clark, one of the most prominent citizens of this city and State, committed suicide in his barn to-day by hanging. He was weighed down with business cares, which, together with his bitter disappointment at his failure to receive the nomination for Congress in the First District. undoubtedly led to his taking his life. He had been mayor of this city, member of the Legislature, and served as captain in the 11th New Hampshire Regiment during the war. He was intimately associated in many business enterprises here.

A Reported Robbery of $300.

DOVER, Oct. 22. Miss Ellen Sheehan reported to the City Marshal this afternoon that she locked up her house Wednesday to go to Portsmouth on a visit and on her return found her trunk broken into and $300 stolen. The City Marshal is investigating.

SHOT HIS BROTHER.

Result of a Family Trouble.

CHEYENNE, Wyoming, Oct. 22. News reached here last night from Carbon that John S. Kerr, a stock grower residing at Elk Mountain, Wyoming, shot his younger brother W. P. Kerr, yesterday. The trouble originated from the fact that, while J. S. Kerr was away from home the brother seduced his wife. His boy, of some 17 years of age, first told Kerr of this state of affairs in his household. J. S. Kerr immediately deeded all his property to his son but soon heard of an attempt to rob his son of his title to the property.

In trying to settle the matter with his brother, hot words ensued and W. S. Kerr shot at his brother, the ball taking effect in one of his legs. The injured husband returned fire and mortally wounded W. S. Kerr. J. S. Kerr last year represented Carbon county in the lower house of the Legislature and was Speaker of the House.

RUM'S WICKED WORK.

Arson and Murder by a Drunken Farm Hand.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 22. A barn nine miles from this city, belonging to a farmer named Verlea, was discovered on fire last night during his absence to the city. Mrs. Joseph Naratny and Mrs. John Lauvar, neighbors, on reaching the place found the barn and granary in ruins and the bones of forty-five head of cattle and hogs.

Hastening to the house, which was also on fire, they were met by a farm-hand named Martin Haukupe, and when they attempted to enter he struck them both down with an axe, crushing in their heads. Other neighbors arrived and Haukupe was finally overpowered. Haukupe is about fifty years old.

About four years ago he was struck by lightning and never fully recovered from the effects. He was not considered dangerous excepting when under the influence of liquor. He was drunk when the crime was committed. The two women were dying.

KU KLUX OUTRAGE.

Inoffensive Negroes Raided.

White Citizens Denounce the Outrage.

JEFFERSON, Tex., Oct. 22. The colored population of the adjoining county (Cass), are in a state of great excitement over a Ku Klux raid made on them at Douglasville the other night. The trouble arose from the recent organization of a secret society among the colored men, the aims and objects of which are a profound mystery to the white population. It seems that several months ago a negro from Little Rock appeared among the settlers, initiating about 2,500 negroes in Cass and Marion counties in the mysteries of this new order.

Trying to Create a Sensation.

The report finally gained currency that the mysterious society was organized for the assassination of obnoxious white planters and to drive them out of the country by burning their property and worrying them until they were willing to sell out at a heavy sacrifice. These rumors of coming assassination grew so frequent and widespread that hundreds of white families were greatly alarmed.

Sunday night about twenty masked horsemen entered Douglasville during a church meeting in the evening and at the marched four of the leading officers of the new secret society to a house where an iron box was kept which was thought to contain a list of the marked men. No such document was found, but many papers were in the box bearing lists of names of colored men. Although the four negro leaders were beaten with gun barrels they persisted in refusing to tell the objects of the mysterious society. The papers were all returned to the iron box and the masked raiders left the village baffled.

The white citizens at Douglasville, Queen City, Atlanta and Linden have since held meetings and denounced the outrage, which has served somewhat to allay the excitement among the negroes, who vow vengeance if any further attempt to pry into their secrets and private affairs is made. Cass county has a population of 20,000, nearly two-thirds of whom are blacks. Any trouble between the blacks and whites in that section would result seriously.

FIRE RECORD.

A Little Fire in Nashua.

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 22. Fire this morning partially destroyed the roof of Tuttle's block, Main street, together with the rear portion of the second story. Damages $1,000; insured. The occupants of the building had stock damaged to the amount of $500.

RHODE ISLAND.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 23. Arthur Sainsbury, a young West Indian sailor, who shot and killed Fred and Jacob Volker, brothers, in an affray May 29th last, was convicted of manslaughter to-day, the jury recommending him to mercy.

STEAMSHIP ANCHORIA.

A New Shaft Arrives from England.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 22. The Anchor Line steamship Ethiopia has arrived here with a new shaft for the Anchoria. The Anchoria's passengers will be transferred to the Ethiopia to-morrow. All are well on board both vessels.

THE WHEEL.

Rowe Again Breaks the Record.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 22. W. A. Rowe of Lynn, made a mile in 2.29 4-5 on the Hampden Park bicycle track this afternoon, which is the best time on record. The pacemakers were Woodside, Crocker and Hendee. Both Rowe and George M. Hendee have joined the ranks of the professionals.

A DESPERATE ENCOUNTER.

A Crazy Negro Takes Possession of a Car.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. Oct. 22. A crazy negro boarded the early morning express from Chicago on the Pan Handle road, at Logansport, to-day and took a seat in the smoker. When the conductor demanded his fare the negro sprang to his feet, with a whoop and with a knife and heavy cane cleared the car, not only of passengers but of the train employes, and kept possession of it until it arrived in this city.

At Noblesville the Sheriff of Hamilton County tried to arrest the maniac, but the latter made a dash at him with his knife and refused to be cowed by a cocked revolver. Fortunately the employes locked the doors of the smoker and the crazy man was held prisoner until the arrival of the train when by a little strategy several policemen were enabled to approach him from the rear and disarm him. This was not done, however, until after a tremendous struggle.

FIRE IN CHICAGO.

Three Men Probably Fatally Burned.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. The contents of Jacobs' lumber yard and the American Varnish Company's warehouse were damaged $75,000 by fire this evening. Henry Streck, Stephen George and a man whose name is unknown, employes of the Varnish Company, were badly injured. Streck may live, but the other two are dying.

BASE BALL.

Saturday's Record.

At St. Louis: St. Louis 10; Chicagos 3.

Base hits: St. Louis 11; Chicagos 4.
Errors: St. Louis 3; Chicagos 3

This was the fifth game in the world's championship series of seven games. Of the five games played the St. Louis has won three and the Chicagos two. Sixteen thousand people witnessed to-day's contest.

THE CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

Another Move for a New Trial.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. One of the counsel for the seven condemned anarchists stated to-day that another motion for a new trial would be called to the attention of Judge Gary, on the ground of newly discovered decisions which, it is claimed show that the instructions of the court were improper which held that a man who incited an offence by speech or writing was to be held equally guilty with the actual perpetrator of the deed. It is claimed that as the term has not expired the court can grant the motion.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Czar Kills an Aide.

VIENNA, Oct. 21. A rumor that the Czar had been killed spread like wildfire in this city to-day. It probably had its origin in the shooting of an officer by the Czar. It seems that an aide-de-camp, Count Reutern, was awaiting the Czar in the royal palace. The weather being warm the Count unbuttoned his tunic. The Czar returned sooner than expected and Reutern rose hurriedly and began to rebutton his tunic, whereupon the Czar thinking that the officer was about to draw a weapon shot him dead.

LOCAL MATTERS.

The State Board of Health meets in Augusta Monday.

There was a well attended dance in City Hall last evening.

A special freight train ran up to Old Town yesterday afternoon and came back heavily loaded.

Matters in the police court were very quiet yesterday, no trials occupying the attention of the court.

The schooner Emerson Ropes is on the way here with over 700 tons of coal for Bacon, Robinson & Co.

Mr. Charles S. Pearl will sell a number of horses at auction at the Grand Central stables this forenoon at ten o'clock.

The schooner Eri arrived here yesterday from Hoboken with 238 tons of coal for the Boston & Bangor Steamship Company.

M. G. Rice, Esq., has purchased a fine driving horse of Lysander Palmer. The animal is seven years old, stylish and very speedy.

Some of the young men at Old Town are arranging for a grand ball to occur there Nov. 1st. Andrews' Orchestra of this city will furnish the music.

The meeting of the New England Division of the Sons of Veterans will occur in Boston Nov. 3d and 4th. Representatives from this city will attend.

Mr. Frank K. Smith is making at his establishment some fine lithographs of Miss Mamie Bruce, of the Bennett & Moulton Opera Company.

In the window of Lyon & Reed's crockery store there are on exhibition some fine specimens of art decoration on plush, the work of Mrs. L. W. Hathorn.

The early flight southward of the wild geese, and the reported departure of the woodcock, are recognized by many as signs of the early approach of winter.

The mills of John Morrison & Co., at Stillwater, and M. Lincoln, at Orono, were obliged to shut down last night, so we are informed, on account of the lack of cars to ship their lumber.

Next Wednesday evening there will be a benefit dance at City Hall for Mrs. Mary Murphy, whose husband was killed by a fall from a flight of stairs on May street some months ago.

Mr. Lemuel Nichols has already let twelve or more of his horses to go into the woods this winter. They will be taken by the Patlins and other parties in Bradley who have them every winter.

Coal freights have been advancing quite rapidly of late. The latest quotation from New York ports to Bangor and discharge is ninety-two and one-half cents. There is yet quite an amount of coal to be received here.

Advices by cable were received here yesterday by T. J. Stewart & Co. from Grenada, W. I., of the arrival at that port of the brig Fidelia, Capt. Blake, which sailed from Bangor in the early part of September

Posters appear in various parts of the city notifying dealers in oleomargarine to obtain their revenue stamps of Collector Redman. It would be interesting to know how many of these stamps are purchased in Bangor.

Mr. Charles D. Stanford has sold the dark bay driving horse which he recently purchased of Dr. O. Fitzgerald to another Bangor gentleman for about $500. The horse is a thoroughbred Kentucky animal and very speedy.

Some vandals have been at work upon the First Parish Church and broken fifteen lights of glass out of the south side of that edifice. Some of it is quite valuable and cannot be obtained without much trouble, not considering the expense.

Two large dressed hogs were on exhibition at the market of Brown & Page yesterday which were raised by Alonzo Crane, of Kenduskeag. They were fourteen months old when killed and weighed 507 and 523 pounds respectively.

Mr. E. S. Bowler, the Bangor taxidermist, shipped quite a number of birds to Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday to fill an order. Two large blue herons were received by Mr. Bowler yesterday from Dr. G. A. Wheeler of Castine, and they will be finely mounted.

After the change of time on the Maine Central next Monday any persons wishing to have their mail leave here on the noon train for the west should deliver it at the post-office before a quarter past twelve local time, as the carriers will be unable to make collections for this train.

The annual meeting of the Penobscot County Sunday School Association will be held with the Congregational church of Brewer next Thursday, Oct. 28th, afternoon and evening. A good session is expected. This association includes all the Evangelical schools of the county.

The receipts of clothing yesterday for the Eastport people footed up $100. The committee on cash received from the provision committee $28, from the proprietor of the Bangor Stoneware Company $25 and from E. H. and H. Rollins $50. This brings up the receipts to a total of $6,600.

The remains of the late Theodore J. Schmithenner who died from the effects of an overdose of laudanum, were interred at Mount Hope yesterday. The Bangor Cigar Makers' Union attended the services at the grave in a body and Rev. George C. Cressey of the Unitarian church officiated.

Y. M. C. A. Another interesting meeting for men only will be held in Y. M. C. A. Hall Sunday afternoon beginning at 2.45. The meeting will consist of testimonies, prayer, some music and a short talk to young men by one of our city pastors. All young men are invited to this meeting.

Our Orono correspondent writes: Mr. E. R. Sanborn who died so suddenly in Bangor, Thursday, was born in Orono and was a member of Mechanics Lodge F. & A. M. In talking with your correspondent and others, Wednesday afternoon he complained of being sick and wished he was at home.

There was a splendid display of furnishing goods in Frank D. Pullen & Co's. large show window last night and it attracted lots of attention. All the latest styles in ties and scarfs were shown, while the new collars and cuffs also received much notice. These are for ladies and children and are likely to have a large sale.

The present arrangement of boats on the Boston and Bangor line will continue until Jan. 1st, when the Penobscot will be hauled off and the Katahdin commence two trips per week. Neither boat will receive any repairs this winter, as they are in first class condition. The usual amount of paint will, of course, be placed on them.

The Floral Society, which does such good work each winter in connection with the Universalist church, has reorganized this week for the season. The officers who served so acceptably last year have been re-elected. The society is to commence at once upon a full outfit of bedding for the Hersey Retreat.

President Hyde, of Bowdoin College, spoke upon the report of the Industrial work South, at Thursday's meeting of the American Missionary Association at New Haven, Conn.

Maine has 214,000 scholars enrolled on the public school list. The actual attendance is 146,000. There are 1,300 Sunday schools with an attendance of 92,000, or 14 per cent. of the entire population exclusive of the Catholic Sunday scholars. The Methodists have more schools for their number than any other denomination; also more mission schools.

At a meeting of the First Congregational Society last evening it was voted unanimously to sustain the action of the church in extending a call to Mr. C. H. Cutler of the Andover Theological Seminary to become their pastor. Each time when Mr. Cutler has occupied the pulpit he has made a very favorable impression and is evidently a gentleman of much ability.

The members of Daniel Chaplin Camp, Sons of Veterans, of this city, will soon appear in new uniforms. Those at present worn are the property of each member, but the new ones will be owned by the whole camp and will be kept in Grand Army Hall. They will cost about $175, and $65 was subscribed towards them in fifteen minutes, at a meeting of the camp the other evening.

The attendance at the meeting at the Columbia Street vestry last evening was less than Wednesday night but a good interest was manifested. Mrs. Shepherd will repeat by request the story of her conversion to-morrow evening at the same church. In the narrative of her experience to which all are cordially invited she gives a full explanation of her life in the convent. She will speak to-night at the vestry.

Hon. Fred Atwood of Winterport, who is always reminding his friends of his existence with something new and novel, sent yesterday to several Bangor gentlemen some unique match safes, of metal, made in the form of a potato beetle, some four or five inches in length. They are painted in green and gold and on the back of the beetle is Mr. Atwood's name and address. They are very attractive desk ornaments and the WHIG acknowledges the receipt of one.

Ex-Gov. and Gen. Lucius Fairchild of Wisconsin, elected National Commander of the G. A. R. at their last encampment held in California, has written Department Commander Lane of Maine that he would like to visit the several departments in the New England States during the coming winter, and suggested that he correspond or arrange with the other departments with a view to having the meetings all within two weeks' time.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary yesterday afternoon it was voted to accept the generous proposition of Mr. Haynes offering the services of his concert company on their return from Aroostook for the benefit of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The concert will take place on Saturday evening, Oct. 30th. It is hoped that the efforts of the ladies in selling tickets will meet with the success that the high character of the entertainment and the worthy cause they represent deserves.

Three new arc electric lights are being placed in Morse & Co's. lumber mill, two in Tebbets & Clayton's casket manufactory, and one has been placed in J. F. Snow's store. The incandescent light will illuminate Wheelwright & Clark's office, Arnold & Sawyer's office, and Frank Frost's fruit store on Exchange street. At the Bangor House sixteen incandescent lights will be put in to burn until twelve o'clock and twenty-two to burn all night. Other lights will soon go in at various stores.

TESTING THE WELL WATER. Dr. D. A. Robinson made an analysis yesterday of water taken from the well on Court street which is thought to have caused the diphtheria there. He first tested for chlorides with nitrate of silver and found a good proportion in the water. He next tested for nitrates, which are the dangerous components, and found it charged heavily with them. This was accepted as conclusive evidence that the water caused all the sickness in that locality. But another test was made for organic substances with permanganate of potash and animal matter was found in comparatively large quantities. The well will now be closed up and holly water introduced.

CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA. A prominent Orono business man writes us as follows: Noticing the prevalence of diphtheria in Bangor I send you for insertion in your paper, if you think proper, a remedy tried in Minneapolis with success, when in East Minneapolis there were 600 cases: Take two teaspoonfuls of liquid tar and two teaspoonfuls of turpentine, put in a basin and set it on fire; put a larger pan under it on account of its burning over. Burn it in the room where the patient is. It makes a heavy smoke. The patient is relieved immediately and in a short time commences to raise the membrane and in two or three days is entirely well. I have heard of this before, but have not seen it tried. The remedy is harmless at any rate and may do what is claimed for it.

MATTERS IN BREWER. A correspondent writes: The supper and entertainment given in the Town Hall, Thursday evening by the ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Society was a grand success. Among those who sang was Miss Gratian, whose clear voice so delighted the audience that she was called to the platform the second time. It must be evident to all competent to judge that a brilliant musical future is before this young lady. Among the readers was Miss Moore, whose manner and taste and witty selections took the audience by storm.——The Methodist church is now undergoing repairs.——Next Sunday Rev. D. Sawyer, of Orrington, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church in the absence of the pastor.——Rev. R. M. Wilkins, of the Methodist church, has been engaged to deliver a temperance lecture before the Lodge of Good Templars at Eddington next Monday evening.

TEMPERANCE MEETING. The temperance meeting at Norombega Hall last evening was as intensely interesting as those of the previous evenings and those who attended were very enthusiastic over the proceedings. It was opened with prayer by Mr. Doutney, and Mrs. Doutney sang with much expression, "Always Take Mother's Advice." This was followed by a very stirring speech by Newman Mathews, the Boy Preacher, which was listened to with deep attention. Mr. Mathews is a remarkable speaker, full of originality and very eloquent. He is working steadily to educate himself for the ministry, and a young man of such wonderful powers should surely succeed. Mr. Doutney made the closing speech, a very able and earnest address At the close some thirty or forty came forward to sign the pledge. The meetings will continue every evening as has been announced. Mr. Doutney has addressed a letter to the Mayor asking His Honor to designate well known men to handle all the funds Monday evening, when he speaks for the benefit of the Eastport people.

THE SITUATION AT EASTPORT.

Hon. Hiram Ruggles Returns from that Town and is Interviewed—The Generous and Prompt Response to the Appeal for Aid Places the People Beyond the Reach of Immediate Want—Bangor's Efforts in their Behalf Warmly Appreciated.

Hon. Hiram Ruggles who was selected to visit Eastport and look after the disposal of the contribution made by Bangor for the relief of the citizens of that town returned home on the Flying Yankee yesterday afternoon. Last evening Mr. Ruggles was interviewed by a WHIG reporter in regard to his trip and what he said will be of interest to our citizens. He left here Tuesday morning and reached Calais at three in the afternoon, the carload of goods shipped from here Monday night arriving there on the same train with him. At Calais the greatest difficulty was experienced in prevailing upon the steamboat people to take the Bangor goods. They said that they were crowded and had more applications for freight room than they could fill. Another objection was the lack of wharf room at Eastport there being only a small piece of a wharf left. But finally they were induced to take the freight although if nobody had accompanied it from Bangor it would not have reached its destination until yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Ruggles arrived in Eastport Wednesday afternoon. The quarters of the relief committee were then crowded with goods and the Bangor contribution was scheduled and stored to be drawn upon as needed. Mr. Ruggles says that the reports in regard to the effects of the fire upon the business part of the town have not been, and can hardly be, exaggerated. The portion referred to was wiped out smoothly and effectually. Not even a boarding house, livery stable, or any small business place was left, so that all the buildings now standing except dwelling houses are the twelve sardine factories scattered along the shores. In the burned district there were only about a dozen or more nice houses, and the rest were of little value, and it was principally the poorer classes which crowded them who were turned out into the streets.

The despatch stating that 2,000 men were thrown out of employment was rather overdrawn, as there were probably only a number of hundred. Mr. Ruggles especially emphasizes the fact that the generosity not only of people in other places, but of those in Eastport met with the wants of the homeless so very quickly that comparatively little suffering from hunger and cold ensued. The residents of the town who had saved their homes took the others in at once, giving them food and shelter; while the response to the call for aid has been so generous that there is an abundance of food and clothing for all needs. It was well that such was the case, for, had it been otherwise, great suffering could not have been prevented.

Mr. Ruggles speaks in the very highest terms of the thorough system which has been adopted by the relief committee, consisting of twenty prominent men of the town, chosen at a general meeting of the citizens. They have opened a set of books and every dollar in money and all provisions and clothing received are accounted for in regular form and in a perfectly business like manner. A competent committee examines into the wants of every person who applies for aid and sees that none receive aid who do not deserve it. People are also found who from pride will not ask for the food and clothing for which they are really suffering, and a committee has also been chosen to seek out such persons. Mr. Ruggles says that the relief committee could not do its work better and there is not the slightest danger of people receiving aid who are unworthy of it and the contributions will not be in the least extravagantly used.

As far as the present needs of the people are concerned Mr. Ruggles says that no fears need be expressed. But the difficulty is the homeless families cannot remain where they are receiving shelter. Into some small houses two or three families have been crowded and some change must be made at once. There is much discussion as to how this shall be done. The skating rink has been secured and will be divided into rooms for dwellings, and the erection of barracks is also been talked of. The cheapest way to carry the people through the winter in a comfortable manner will be adopted. At Mr. Ruggles' suggestion he was given an order on Mayor Nealley for thirty second-hand stoves, which seem to be the articles needed more than anything else. As far as clothing is concerned, of some articles there is an abundance, while other and much needed goods will be ordered in cities from which subscriptions have been received.

Perishable provisions have been received and are being converted into money to be used in other directions. Mr. Ruggles thinks that if any distress is felt it will be toward the approach of spring. That the Eastport people appreciated Bangor's efforts in their behalf is drawing it mildly. Mr. Ruggles says that they were overflowing with gratitude toward the Queen City for her early response and will long remember the generous contributions. The provisions from here were the first donations of the kind to reach there, and it was quite remarkable considering the fact that there is not the slightest traffic between the places.

In Mr. Ruggles opinion there will be a decided building boom as soon as the insurance adjusters finish their work and labor will be in great demand in the town. He thinks that the wharves and a great many storehouses will be built this fall and winter as the want of the former is very severely felt at present. Next spring the rebuilding of dwellings and business blocks will commence and in this direction bricks will be the material most generally used. Nearly every one of the buildings destroyed was of wood. Mr. Ruggles says that the people are losing their feeling of depression and with redoubled vigor will commence the work of again building up their town.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pauline Markham.

The sale of seats for Miss Pauline Markham's three nights' engagement opened at the box office yesterday morning, and without doubt the actress will have very good houses here. In all the performances Miss Markham will give in this city she will introduce into the plays many of the charming English ballads that have caused her voice to be described by many critics and scholars of the times as "vocal velvet." This special feature will in itself be an unusual attraction.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

October (Civil) Term.

HON. ENOCH FOSTER, Associate Justice Presiding.
CHARLES D. CHAPMAN, Esq., Sheriff.
CHARLES F. SWEET, Esq., Clerk.
RUEL SMITH, Esq., Reporter.

Friday, Oct. 22.

In the case of Joseph I. Eaton vs. Mahala Bennett, reported yesterday, a verdict for the plaintiff for $28.68 was rendered.

Sanborn & White and D. A. H. Powers for plaintiff.

Barker, Vose & Barker for defendant.

ON TRIAL.

Samuel B. Thayer vs. Joseph I. Eaton. Assumpsit upon account annexed for $1,000, which plaintiff claims for services rendered defendant at his special request in obtaining a reference and settlement of all cases pending in court in 1883, between Joseph W. Eaton and Sarah S. Eaton. The defendant denies liability on the ground that there was no employment by him of plaintiff and if any services were rendered they were friendly and tendered to him without expectation of payment therefor.

The Position of the Crusade.

The ladies of the Crusade send us the following which defines their position to the letter:

For some time the Woman's Crusade of this city has been accused of being a political party. This is incorrect. They are not political or sectarian as an organization and have only one object in view, to save the fallen and keep others from falling, through the evil of strong drink. This has been their only object and for this they have worked steadily on for almost thirteen years. Depending upon the public for patronage they have never given countenance to any political party no matter what their private opinion might be. If to feed the hungry, clothe the naked and put a little sunshine into darkened childhood by Christmas Trees is being political, then they must plead guilty, for this is their work. Wishing to set themselves right before the public it was decided at the last business meeting that this statement should be made. They do not consider themselves responsible for other organizations.

Our Own Folks and Other Folks.

Hon F. M. Laughton left for Boston last evening.

Mr. Eugene S. Favor of Foxcroft was in the city yesterday.

Mr. E. W. Chapman and wife have returned home from California.

George F. Godfrey, Esq., left for Boston on the Flying Yankee yesterday.

George S. C. Dow, Esq., of this city will pass the winter in Southern California.

Mr. Willard Cutter and wife are in Stillwater, Minn., visiting their daughter, Mrs C. H. Brown.

Mr. Howard the prominent Bar Harbor cottager left for home Thursday evening, closing his residence for the season.

Dr. S. B. Morison, of this city as a representative of the Maine Medical Association visited the Insane Hospital this week

Rev. G. W. Hinckley of this city is conducting very successful revival meetings in Presque Isle, Washburn and other places.

The many friends of Mr. J. Fred Leavitt will be pleased to learn that he has so far recovered from his illness as to be able to walk out.

Miss Lillian Maling of Brewer, who is quite a favorite singer in this city, has been engaged as contralto in the Unitarian church choir.

Mr. Henry O. Pierce, who went to Eastport accompanying the Bangor contribution, will remain there until Monday aiding the relief committee.

Capt. Fred Freeman of South Orrington leaves next Tuesday morning in Mr. A. W. Benson's California party for San Diego, Cal., where he will reside in the future.

Mrs. R. P. Buck, who has been passing the summer at her residence in Bucksport, left on the Flying Yankee yesterday with her servants for her New York residence.

Messrs. W. C. Tallman, Nicholas J. Grace and J. S. Turnbull of the Grand Trunk and Mr. J. L. McBeath of the Great Wabash route were in the city yesterday at the Bangor House.

Mrs. W. A. Ellis, of Peshtgo, Mrs. Oakes and Mrs. Stevens, of Marinette, Wis., who have been visiting relatives in Stillwater for some time, leave on their return to the west this morning.

Dr. C. F. Ware and wife, of Bucksport, will be members of Mr. A. W. Benson's California party which leaves here next Tuesday morning. They will pass the winter on the Pacific coast.

Mr. J. H. French, General Superintendent of the main line of the Old Colony Railroad was in the city yesterday with his son. They had just returned from a trip to St. John and Halifax and went to Stetson to visit relatives.

Gov. Robie and his wife will go to Philadelphia next month and attend the annual meeting of the National Grange, which will convene Nov. 10th. The Governor has been designated to respond to the address of welcome by the Mayor of Philadelphia.

Mr. Rufus Crowell, Jr., one of the most popular and business-like Boston commercial travellers who visits Bangor, is in the city. Mr. Crowell is one of the youngest commercial men on the road but is a favorite with the merchants and has splendid success.

Sunday Services.

Prof. Sewall will supply the First Parish church to-morrow

At the Episcopal church to-morrow there will be lay reading.

Mr. W. C. Curtis, of the Seminary, will preach at the First Congregational church, Brewer, Sunday morning

M., distribution of religious papers and tracts among the sailors and meeting at the jail for the prisoners; at 9.15, consecration meeting at Columbia street church vestry; at 2.45, meeting for men only at the rooms of the Association. These two meetings will be very interesting. All young men are invited to come and see for themselves.

New Advertisements.

E. H. Hall's large advertisement requires to be closely read to enable one to form an idea of the many bargains which are being daily given at that establishment. His list is too extensive to be set forth in any ordinary notice. The crowds of customers which throng his store are a sufficient attestation that the bargains advertised are as represented.

Salvatine, the great Pacific Coast remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia, etc., is meeting with a large sale. Caldwell Sweet & Bros., proprietors.

Joseph F. Snow offers for sale 200 plush garments of Benjamin & Caspary's finest importation. Also 500 ladies' and children's outside garments, choice styles dress goods and 1,000 pairs wool blankets.

Frank D. Pullen & Co. have something new in collars and cuffs for ladies and boys, called Zylonite, that require no washing. Also a job lot of men's Scotch wool hose and a fine line of neckties.

Dole Brothers are offering stylish fall and winter goods in parlor, chamber and miscellaneous furniture and the leading styles of carpets, Smyrna rugs and oil-cloths.

Bond, the caterer, publishes another elaborate bill of fare this morning, which will be served up to his customers to-morrow. His cooking is of the best and his service first class.

Up on the Moor.

(Concluded.)

Had Mr. Fairburn suddenly opened his eyes some three hours later he might have felt less confident on the subject. Close over him there leaned a tall, powerfully built man, with the look of a hunted animal in his small, sharp eyes, and the firm lines of desperate resolve imprinted on every feature. Slowly and noiselessly the door had been opened, admitting a few faint red rays from the dying embers in the outer apartment, and with the dexterity acquired by long practice in evil ways the intruder groped his way forward.

Near the pallet he paused to cast a look of keenest scrutiny on the sleeper, while his fingers closed more firmly on the short iron bar he carried.

Satisfied that the occupant of the bed was indeed unconscious of his presence, the man proceeded to the corner where Aleck had placed his gun, and noiselessly seized the weapon, which he conveyed with the same caution into the outer room. Then he returned and felt about with fingers which seemed almost to have eyes in their tips, until he discovered the cartridge belt Aleck had worn on the preceding day. This was removed in the same stealthy fashion, and then came the last and most delicate stage of the operations.

With the iron bar firmly grasped in his right hand the left hand of the nocturnal visitor was by imperceptible degrees slipped under the hard pillow and as slowly withdrawn, together with the watch and pocketbook deposited there for safety. Just then there was a slight movement on the sleeper's part, and as quick as thought the heavy bar was raised above his head. Fortunately for Mr. Fairburn, his slumbers were deep and sound that night, and though the eyelids quivered they did not unclose. Silently the bar sank again, and in a few moments more the door was closed as quietly as it had opened, and Aleck was alone again.

When he awoke next morning the sun was shining brightly through the single pane of greenish glass which lighted his sleeping apartment. As ablutions were evidently, owing to force of circumstances, out of the question for the present, almost the first act of his toilet was to call aloud to his entertainer for the outer garments of which she had so hospitably taken charge the previous night. No answer was returned to his appeal, however, and Mr. Fairburn called still louder. Still silence, and he got impatient.

"I say, guidwife, where are you! Don't you hear me call? I—want—my—clothes!"

But not even an echo answered.

"Confound that old idiot! She's gone off for water or something, and forgotten all about my things. I must just go and get them myself, I suppose."

So wrapping himself in the faded patchwork quilt which had adorned his couch, Mr. Fairburn flung open the door of the other room and proceeded on a tour of investigation.

What was his surprise when, crouched in the self-same corner from which she had been extricated the previous evening, her hands clasped in mute entreaty, and an agony of terror depicted on her wrinkled face, he found his missing hostess!

"Poor old thing! She's evidently a little wrong in the head," said the young laird to himself. "I must try and humor her a bit."

But at the first soothing words he attempted the frightened creature crawled forward and clasped his knees convulsively.

"Vor the love o' heaven daunt 'ee harm a pure old widder 'ooman what wan't be long out 'o her grave anyhow, an' I'll tell 'ee the gospel truth, zo zure as death I will!"

"There, there, guidwife, I'm not going to hurt you or anybody else. Get up, there's a good creature, and get me my coat and trousers, that's all I want. Don't look so scared; you didn't take me for a ghost walking in broad daylight, did you?"

"You'm zure you wan't hurt me van I tell 'ee all? I be in my zeventy-vour', an' vrail as a bird, I be!"

"I won't say what I shan't do if you keep me standing here much longer? Where on earth have you put my clothes? You haven't burnt them by accident, have you?"

"Oh, wat wull 'ee zay when I tell 'ee?" And Betty Trownson fell to sobbing violently, while still clinging to her guest's knees. Mr. Fairburn fairly stamped with vexation.

"Confound it all! What on earth am I to do with this old lunatic? They'll have sent out a search party from Coombe by now, and it may be up here directly as likely as not. A pretty figure I should cut if Miss Madge put her head to the door just now! By the way, I wonder what time it really is."

And freeing himself with difficulty from the unwelcome embrace, Mr. Fairburn strode hastily towards the inner room, the impromptu dressing-gown floating boldly out behind his manly form. In another minute he returned with an angry light in his blue eyes.

"Then there really has been some devilry or other going on in the night, you old beldame! You've good cause to be frightened—my watch, and my money, all gone! Tell me this instant where they are, or I'll shake the truth out of your old body!"

Notwithstanding his angry words, Aleck lifted the sobbing old woman gently enough from the floor and placed her in her wooden arm-chair.

"But first of all, tell me where I shall find my clothes? I can do nothing without them for certain."

"Oh, zir!—daun't 'ee be zo wrath wi' me!—they'm a gone too!"

"Gone? gone where?" gasped the victim.

"He've a took 'em, yer honour—Black Jan—an' the watch, an' the gun, an' arl! But wan't 'ee have they things he'th a left vor 'ee to wear instead? I've a got 'em arl safe here vor 'ee."

And drawing from within the press bedstead a bundle of clothing, the widow displayed before the astonished gaze of the young laird a suit of homespun, coarse indeed in texture, but pleasingly varied in hue, each parti-colored garment being further conspicuously adorned with a huge inwoven "broad arrow," in short, the strikingly distinguished costume peculiar to the inmates of Dartmoor Prison.

Mr. Fairburn's first impulse was, I fear, to indulge in some exceedingly harsh language. But apparently there was something in the grim humor of the situation which suited a Highland sense of the ludicrous, for after a minute's dismayed gaze at the novel style of attire offered for his adoption, Aleck burst into a laugh so loud and long that the widow in turn thought her guest had taken leave of his senses.

But when the laugh was over, Mr. Fairburn spoke gravely enough.

"Come, guidwife, a joke's a joke, but you must give me a more lucid explanation than this if you don't want to see the inside of Exeter jail. What the dickens have you to do with Black Jan, who so liberally places his wardrobe at my disposal? And why didn't you at least give me the chance of a tussle with the scoundrel?"

Betty Trownson was plainly immensely relieved that her tidings had resulted in nothing harder than words.

"Oh, zir, do 'ee be thankful that 'ee be spared zafe in life and limb to zee the light o' this blessed day, instead of a lyin' in there a mangled corpse! There bain't a more desp'rate villain alive than Black Jan wan the blid of 'un is up, an' he wouldn't ha' stopped short o' murder last night if so be he couldn't ha' got they cloze any other way."

The allusion reminded Mr. Fairburn of the decidedly incomplete nature of his present attire, and led to a hasty adjournment to the inner apartment, where, seated on his mattress, and wrapped in his patchwork robe de chambres, he listened to his hostess' rambling narrative.

It appeared that she had known "Black Jan," alias John Hearn, from his boyhood, he having been born and bred on the moor. While still a youth he had fallen into evil company and evil ways, and at length on a charge of housebreaking, he heard a sentence of ten years' penal servitude pronounced against him. Then, naturally, he had vanished from the sight and hearing of honest folks; until, as the solitary widow sat dozing over her fire the previous afternoon, a man in convict dress had stood suddenly before her, panting and exhausted from a run of many miles—"Black Jan" himself, who, having escaped under cover of the fog from one of the gangs at work on the moor, now half-besought, half-threatened the lonely old woman into affording him a temporary shelter.

"Then the scoundrel was actually in the place when I knocked yesterday afternoon!" interrupted her auditor.

"Eees fay, he was! An' both of us thought zure 'twas the sodgers after un, though he'd a made me put out my bit o' vire vor vear it might sarve 'um vor a guide. I'd on'y jist a vinished a hidin' of un in the peat-stack, out at the back, wan 'ee brock oppen the door in that vashion, zir, an' I was jist vair mazed wi' terror."

"Small wonder you were so anxious to turn me out on the moor again! But how came you to change your mind, guidwife, and become so hospitable all in a hurry?"

"Didn't yer honor spake o' goin' out to get the turfs yerzel? and wasn't I quakin' like a leaf vor vear there'd be blidshed between the two ov 'ee? vor Jan had a zwore he'd never be tooked agen alive. And though 'ee be a vine vigure of a man, zurely, you'm no match, zir, vor Black Jan, the best wrastler in arl Devon, an' a head higher than you, bezides! Zo wan I gooed out to get they turfs an' he zweared to me I mun either get they cloze an' money vor he, or zee thee murdered avore my eyes, I thinked it wor no zin to zave the life ov 'ee at any price. And bezides, yer honor, to tell 'ee the whole truth, one winter's day many a long year agone, Jan Hearn comed up here to bring me a rabbit he'd znared—'twan't long after my ole man was a took—and he findeth me a lyin' arl alone zick, well-nigh to death's doore, an' he rinned a matter o' ite mile to vetch the doctor vor I; an' zo it zeemed I couldn't stand by an' zee un shot down by they sodgers like a mad dug, if zo be I could zave the live of un! Zo I made un swear if he got they cloze an' money he wouldn't harm a hair ov yer honor's head, but go straight off voreign, an' be a honest man vor the rest o' his days, and thanks be to praise, he'm a gone."

"And I'm left stranded up here with a convict costume for sole attire! Well, guidwife, I suppose from your point of view you acted for the best, but you might as well have given me a voice in the matter, I think. If a ten-pound note and a shooting-suit will really make an honest man of your friend the burglar, why, it's certainly cheap at the price—to the country at any rate; but I must confess Black Jan seems to me to have started on his new career in somewhat questionable fashion. What did he want with the gun?"

"Hur zaith hur must have the gun, zo as to pass hizzel' off vun a gen'leman out shootin' lozed in the vog, jist as it might be yer honor yerzel'. By now I doubt he'm on the railroad well-nigh to Bristol, most like, vur he spake o' goin' abooard ship there."

"And I wish good luck to the ship that gets such a precious Jonah. I shall believe in his reformation when he sends back at least the price of my new gun—not before. Well now, guidwife, what about this clothes business? Of course, I can't put on those abominations."

"Then, fay, I daun't know wat else yer honor be goin' to do, unless so be 'ee'd be willin' to have my Zunday gound. I'd go down to A—— for 'ee mysel' this minute if I could, but I'm that crippled wi' the rheumatics I couldn' walk a mile to zave a man's live, an' it be ite mile down to A——, gude. If 'ee would like to wait up here a bit, zir, there be a cart cometh from A—— wance in a fortnight, and bringeth me the bits o' things I need to buy; he'll be here to-morrow in a week."

"Many thanks, my friend," said Mr. Fairburn, laughing, "but I shan't intrude on your hospitality so long as that, even if I should have to improvise a kilt or plaid out of your best petticoat and shawl. But confound it all! there must be some better way out of the scrape than that. Carew will send out to look for me, of course, and somebody is bound to turn up here before very long; I shan't have many hours to wait."

In spite of the sanguine prediction, when night again closed in on the lonely hut Mr. Fairburn found himself obliged once more to accept the shelter of the lean-to and the scanty accommodation it offered. Nor did the return of morning bring any sign of succor, Squire Carew and his search party being, unfortunately, very busy dragging peat-holes on the opposite side of the moor. But when the second day, too, began to draw towards its close, and still no sign of deliverance, the prisoner's patience and his hostess' scanty store of provisions were alike exhausted by the extraordinary demands made upon them.

"Give me out the abominations!" Mr. Fairburn at last exclaimed, in the tone of a man resolved to do or die. "Give me out the abominations! I'd as soon be shot down for a runaway convict as spend another such day as this! Perhaps, as it's getting towards gloaming, I may have the luck to reach a friendly shelter before the police pounce upon me. If not, I must just tell my tale and trust to their having a few grains common sense in their heads."

Half an hour later a tall figure in parti-colored raiment might have been seen in the twilight making rapid way along the little track which led from Widow Trowson's cottage down to A——.

"Who goes there?—stand, or I fire!"

"Thanks! On the whole, I think I prefer standing." And to the surprise of the mounted patrol, into whose hands he had fallen, the suspicious-looking pedestrian advanced to meet them with a very different gait from the slouch acquired in prison-yards. Naturally they suspected a ruse, and kept him well covered with their rifles.

"I assure you," went on the stranger, "I am quite rejoiced to meet you, for I was just beginning to fear I had lost my way yet once more on this delightful moor of yours. Besides, I am sure to fare better in the hands of intelligent soldiers like yourselves, than if any of the yokels had chanced to catch sight of me first."

"That's very fine talk, my man," no doubt," said the senior constable grimly, "but you don't catch old birds with chaff, you know; so we'll just trouble you to walk here between us down to A——, and give account of yourself to Inspector Fox. I needn't warn you to be up to no tricks—you'll not be such a fool as to try them on with two armed and mounted men beside you."

Fortunately for the captive, "the shades of night" were falling very fast when the little procession entered the quiet country town, and they reached the police-station almost unobserved. Here they found the inspector engaged in drawing up a report, but he rose hastily at the appearance of the patrol.

"Well done, Burton! So you've got the fellow after all! There have been far too many of these escapes in the fog lately; we shall just show those Prince's Town people that some other folks are wide awake, whatever they may be themselves! I'm as glad——"

The Inspector's happy chuckle stopped suddenly as his eye fell on the prisoner's handsome features and fair wavy hair, and he turned inquiringly to the constable.

"I'm afraid, sir, that 'Black Jan' has given us the slip after all, and I think you'll say the same when you've heard this young gen'leman's tale, though I didn't give much heed to it myself till now that I see him fairly under the gaslight. He certainly don't answer to the description, do he, sir?"

"Stand out, sir!" said the Inspector sharply to Aleck, for his disappointment made him cross. "Black hair—(just see if that's a wig, Burton)—dark eyes and complexion—six feet in height—why, this fellow isn't above five foot ten!"

The Inspector threw down the printed slip in disgust, and turned again to the prisoner.

"Now, sir! perhaps you'll be good enough to tell me what you mean by masquerading about the country in this fashion?"

"Wouldn't it be more to the point if I asked what your friend 'Black Jan' meant by going off with the new shooting suit Wolmershausen had just built for me, and the gun I gave five and twenty pounds for last season? Look here, Mr. Inspector, I suppose you can see pretty plainly I'm not the man you want! Can't you let one of your people fetch me some food before I begin my tale? I haven't had a square meal these three days, and am pretty near famished. Do, there's a good fellow, and I'll tell you the story in brief while they're fetching it."

Something in Aleck's good-humored voice and face must have softened the official heart of Inspector Fox, for before long the wanderer was sitting down to an abundant meal of cold beef and its attendant pickles, while the chief of the A—— police despatched a telegraphic account of "Black Jan's" escape to headquarters.

"But I'm afraid, sir, that you'll have to come before the justices to-morrow morning just as you are! You see, we're bound to produce a man as we find him; and you've got to account to the magistrates for the possession of these clothes; what I believe or don't believe goes for nothing, of course. The most I can do is to get the hearing arranged for the magistrates' private room instead of for the court."

The prisoner sighed resignedly. "Well, what can't be cured must be endured, evidently; and I'm only too glad to have got back to civilization once more on any terms. So I must take a laugh from your worthy justices with the best grace I can muster."

"Well, sir, it won't be a very long one; that is, if your story is true," added the Inspector cautiously. "For all our justices know Squire Carew well enough, though he sits on the Newton Bench, not ours. And now, sir, I'll wish you a good night's rest, for it's past twelve o'clock."

A Bond Street lounger, wearied in the search for a new sensation, might perhaps have envied Mr. Fairburn next morning when he found himself ushered by Inspector Fox himself into the presence of the half-dozen squares and rectors who formed the A—— tribunal of justice, but I do not think any one else would have done so.

He says himself that, in spite of "Snr tor" and its lessons, never till that day had he properly realized the moral importance of a suit of clothes. He maintains that it took all his courage to resist the impulse which prompted him to shuffle his feet and hang his head under the stern gaze of six pairs of magisterial eyes, and declares that even his h's seemed to take to themselves wings and fly away as he told his plain, unvarnished tale.

Fortunately the penance was not a long one. Before the story was well over, a rosy old gentleman, Squire Norton by name, suddenly interrupted it. "Why, bless my soul! Then this must be the young fellow Bob Hilliard was talking about at dinner last night. He said Tom Carew and his father were both nearly out of their wits, and dragging every peat-hole for ten miles round T——."

"But why in the name of wonder didn't they look for me on dry ground first?" interposed the prisoner.

"Because some shepherd who has a hut over on that side of the moor told a tale about having met a man in gray, with a gun on his shoulder, just before daylight; so they jumped to the conclusion that, dead or alive, you were bound to turn up somewhere in that direction."

"And no doubt he did meet a man in gray, only it happened to be 'Black Jan' on his way across country!"

"That's it! The rascal wouldn't dare to make for the station here at A—— for fear of awkward results. Well now, Mr. Fairburn, the best thing I can do is to drive home and get you a rig-out of my son's, and then we'll get over to Coombe as quickly as we can, for you'll be a sight for sore eyes there, I can tell you; bright ones too, some of them. Bob said Miss Madge was on horseback all day yesterday, scouring the moor in search of somebody."

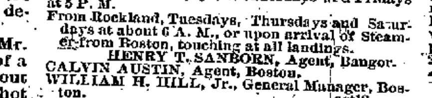

Perhaps the most wonderful part of all this true history lies in the fact that Miss Madge Carew successfully accomplished what it has been often declared is beyond the power of woman to do—she conquered the feminine impulse to utter the words, "I told you so."

This extraordinary self-restraint, combined with her frank and undisguised delight at the wanderer's safe return, so touched the susceptible heart of the young laird that there is every reason to expect before next summer the skill of the Coombe Burleigh ringers and the stability of the ancient church tower will both be tested by demands for a wedding-peal worthy of the Squire's eldest daughter.—Argosy.

"Saved My Life"

Is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles.—E. Bragdon, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe Hemorrhage of the Lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balsams and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and, I am satisfied, saved my life.—Mrs. E. Coburn, 18 Second st., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy.—D. A. McMullen, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe Cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians, and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—Lizzie M. Allen, West Lancaster, Ohio. tf

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

THOUSANDS OF CASES OF

SICK

Headache are permanently cured every year (as the hundreds of testimonials in my possession will testify) by the use of Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription. This Remedy stands to-day without a rival and with scarcely a competitor in the world. Thousands of Physicians throughout the country have acknowledged their inability to cure it, and are now prescribing Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription for all cases of Sick in either its nervous, bilious or congestive form, arising from obstruction, congestion or torpidity of the liver. When I say that Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription will cure the most obstinate cases of Sick Headache, I mean just what I say, and that is, but it not merely relieves, but cures, no matter how long the case may have been standing.

HEADACHE

I have testimonials from persons who have been afflicted for twenty years, being confined to bed two or three days at a time every two weeks, that have been permanently cured by two bottles of Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription, so that they have not had an attack for over five years.

If you are troubled with Sick Headache and wish to be

be sure and give this remedy a trial. PRICE $1.00. S. B. ARCHER, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Cement Sewer Pipe.

OSHKOSH, Oct. 20, 1884.—For the information of those who are misled concerning Cement Sewer-pipe, I wish to state that such sewer pipe is being very extensively manufactured and used in the State of Wisconsin, and is preferred to vitrified. First, for its great strength and durability, it being from one-third to one-half stronger, and less liable to crush in the ditch. Being solidly packed, in making, between iron moulds, it becomes impervious to water or acids, and, if one of these pipes, such as made in Wisconsin, is cemented tight at one end and filled with water, the water will stay there until it evaporates, which shows that it does not filter through. The older this pipe gets, the harder and more rock-like it becomes. Second, this pipe is preferred to all others on account of its shape. The larger sizes are egg-shape, contracting the flow in a narrow channel at the bottom, increasing its velocity, keeping it clean and at the same time having a large area above for a larger volume of water when needed. It also has a flat base, which makes it lay firm in the ditch, keeping it in shape, while a round pipe is more liable to roll and get out of shape, either in the filling or settling of the ditch. Cement pipe has been used for sewers in England and various parts of the old world for over one hundred years, and has proved indestructible, either by the action of sewage or time, and is still very extensively used in London and various other European cities. Brooklyn, N. Y., has over fifty miles of cement pipe sewers, laid from twenty to forty years ago, and still giving perfect satisfaction. Query: Why is cement used in brick sewers, and plastered all over the interior surface? Simply because sewage will not go through it to be filtered through the porous brick. Yours respectfully, C. B. HEWITT.
